Seek Funds For Musicians Trip

Two Lincoln - Way High School students will be part of the 300 Illinois all state group that will leave O'Hare Field July 1 bound for Dijon, France where the International Society for Music Education will be holding its annual conference.

The Illinois musicians so pleased the musical educators at Interlachen last year that the state was invited to send another group this year.

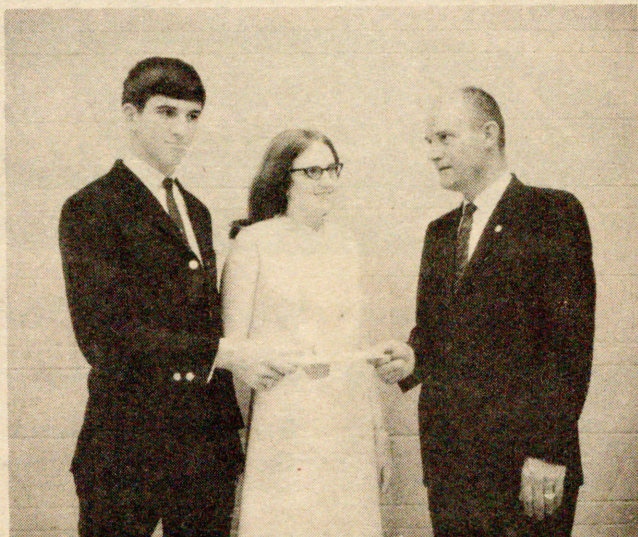

More than 3,600 Illinois students took part in six district festivals in the state last November and 300 were chosen for the band, chorus and orchestra that will make the trip to Europe.

The Lincoln-Way students are Judy Kalkbrenner, Manhattan, a member of the school's 120-voice all-state chorus, and Arnold Gregory, New Lenox, a trombonist in the school's all-state band.

Various groups in the Lincoln-Way district are contributing to the "Judy and Arnie Fund" and Robert C. Taylor, chairman of L-W music department has sent out letters to organizations and individuals apprising them of the project.

"The original estate of expenses," Taylor said, "was $600 per student. The sponsoring organizations, the Illinois Music Educators Association, has been working to reduce the cost thru contributions from industry and other sources, and the Lincoln-Way music department is doing the same thing on the local level. We want Judy and Arnie to represent Lincoln-Way, the area, the state, and the nation at no more cost to them than their spending money. The I.M.-E.A. has succeeded in getting the cost down to $500 per student. A dance at Lincoln-Way last January cut it another hundred. The New

Decision On 3d Airport Location A Year Away

A final decision on the location of a third major airport in the Chicago Metropolitan area probably will not be made for at least another year.

The Chicago Airport Site Selection Study, released last weekend by Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago, narrowed the number of sites under consideration from 13 to four.

The dominant proposal in the study prepared by five engineering firms lists a 27-square-mile lake-bottom location about five miles east of downtown Chicago in Lake Michigan as the most advantageous.

Land sites advanced as practicable are:

- * East of Lockport and North of New Lenox with the southern boundary of the airfield on Interstate 80 and the northern extremity at 143d street.

- * In Cook and Will counties south of Tinley Park and east of Frankfort with Interstate 80 as the northern boundary of the airport.

- * In DuPage and in Will counties, west of Woodridge and north of Romeoville.

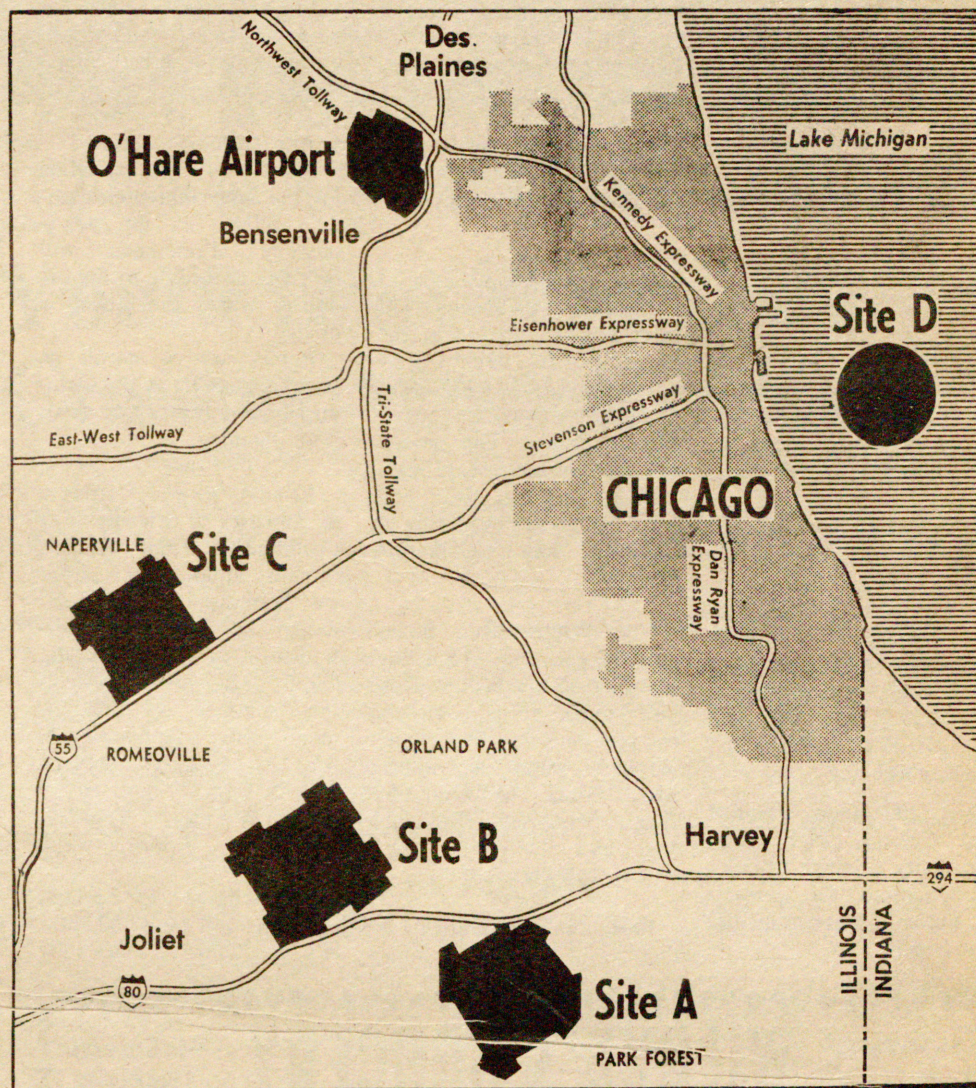

The report did not include a site formerly under consideration in Green Garden township nor a location near Lansing.

The study did not specifically recommend any site but it did point out the advantages of the site in Lake Michigan off 31st street.

Among these were its proximity to downtown Chicago and the resultant reduced land travel time for users, safety in less air traffic over populated areas and a reduced noise factor for area residents.

The decision on the airport location will be made by Chicago officials led by Mayor Daley, although data compiled by other government and airline agencies

proximity to downtown Chicago and the resultant reduced land travel time for users, safety in less air traffic over populated areas and a reduced noise factor for area residents.

The decision on the airport location will be made by Chicago officials led by Mayor Daley, although data compiled by other government and airline agencies undoubtedly will greatly influence the ultimate selection.

William Downes Jr., commissioner of aviation; Lewis Hill, commissioner of development and planning, and Milton Pikarsky, commissioner of public works, in an accompanying memorandum to the study, recommended the lake site as "the most favorable" location. Mayor Daley said he concurs with his aides.

At a cost estimated between $413,000,000 and $423,000,000, it would be the most expensive of the

Right Hole - Wrong Lot

Edward Podobnik, of Joliet, purchased a lot on Sycamore St., Frankfort. He consulted a contractor. The contractor sent out a crew. The crew excavated for a basement.

It was all right except for one thing. The excavation was not on Podobnik's lot. It is on a lot owned by Harold Scheer.

One theory is that when Podobnik bought the lot there was a house standing on the lot next door. It was a house in transit, however, and a few days after Podobnik bought his lot the house was moved over to the lot where it belonged. It had just been visiting on the lot next to Podobnik while its foundations were being prepared.

Mr. Scheer is reportedly in no need of an excavation at this time, and it could be that by the time he is ready this one would be outdated. The village board is getting ready to amend its zoning ordinance calling for 10-foot set back from side lines instead of five feet. This one appears to be a five-footer, it was said.

Push Work On Revising Frankfort Ordinances

Revision of the ordinance of the Village of Frankfort should be completed by the end of the current year, Village Attorney August Santoro told the village board at its regular meeting Monday night.

There are some ordinances to be submitted shortly to the council relative to zoning, building, traffic and police powers that will change existing measures.

Santoro also advised the board that it should employ a court reporter at zoning hearings where there is a possibility the parties involved would appeal the zoning body's decision to the circuit court. If there is a court reporter present who takes down all the testimony in the case, Santoro said, then the court only concerns itself with whether the zoning board has followed proper legal procedures. If there is no court reporter, Santoro continued, the court would consider it as an entirely new case, hear the testimony of the witnesses and makes its own decision.

Santoro, who is also assessor of Frankfort Township, told the village board that the money it spent a few years ago in extending water and sewer to the Mobil Foam plant on Center Rd. was money well spent. The assessed valuation of the company's real estate this year, with the multiplier, comes to $783,460 and the personal property is $176,000, he said. This means that if the combined tax rate is around the $5 mark Mobile will have a tax bill of some $47,000 to pay next year. Taxes are paid the year following that in which the property is assessed.

The village tax rate is down this year, $7.72 per $1,000 equalized assessed valuation last year to $6.80. Should the village rate remain the same in figuring the tax bills next spring Frankfort would get some $6,500 as its share of the Mobile Foam tax money.

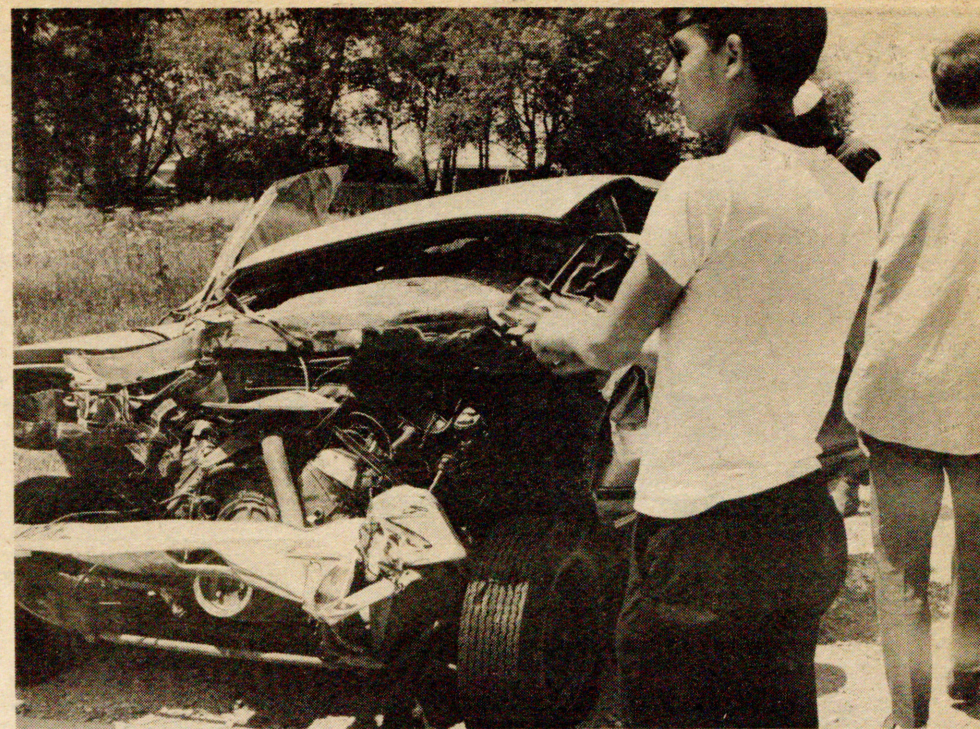

Mayor Glenn Warning read a letter from Village Engineer Robert Hamilton dealing with a meeting with Superior Match Co. on increasing the charge of handling its sewerage. The new rate, which was approved by the village board, will be 21 cents and two mills per 1,000 gallons. This will bring the company's bill up to around $175 bi-monthly.

The new well on Nebraska St. is practically completed as far as drilling is concerned. Trustee John Topp reported Monday night that the well was down 380 feet. It was expected that an ample water supply would be available at 400 feet. Ten-inch water mains will be run along Nebraska St. to the new well.

Trustee Jerry Osmus reported that two persons had applied for auxiliary police posts. He also said police will enforce the curfew ordinance requiring juveniles to be home by 9:30 p.m. In case of violations police will arrest the parents, Osmus said.

Village Attorney Santoro is to attend a hearing before the Chicago Sanitary District trustees dealing with creation of a sludge dumping project in the Tinley Park area. Several municipalities and numerous real estate dealers are objecting to this sludge dumping, contending it will depreciate property values as well as being highly objectionable to persons who have to smell it. The sanitary district trustees are holding their meeting this morning in Chicago. At 8 o'clock tonight numerous villages will be represented at a meeting in the Tinley Park village hall to object to the district's proposed action. It was the hope of the objectors that the sanitary district trustees would continue this morning's hearing to a later date. Attorney Albert H. Krusemark, of Frankfort, is one of those leading the fight against the plan to pump sludge on to lands in the suburbs.

TOO MUCH SPEED—Investigators of the accident on I-80 that claimed the life of the driver of the car shown here said that the victim had to be traveling at a terrific pace to produce such wreckage. The car rammed a semi-trailer from the rear, with the truck going 55 m.p.h.

Youth Dies When Auto Crashes Moving Truck

Rescue squads from the Mokena and New Lenox fire departments worked for about two hours early last Thursday morning to extricate the body of a young motorist who had jammed his car under the floor of a semi-trailer on I-80, about a mile and a half west of Wolf Rd.

Driver of the truck, Lloyd Patterson, 39, of Venice, Ill. told police that as he was traveling west at 55 miles an hour he saw a car coming up behind him at terrific speed. Seconds later, Patterson was reported saying, the car crashed into the rear of the truck with such force that he was hurled off the seat. Patterson, however, reportedly escaped injury.

Driver of the car was identified as Danny G. Harper, 19, of 2707 Caddy Lane, on the far west side of Joliet. He died at the scene, it was said, apparently from crushing injuries. Coroner Willard G. Blood noted that Harper's death was the 32d in Will County this year.

Harper was clutching a waxed sandwich bag in his left hand, according to those who removed him from the wreckage, indicating that apparently he had been eating at the time of the crash. The crash occurred about 11:30, it was said, but it was midnight before firemen were called.

Cherry Hill Plans Parade For July 4

The Cherry Hill Home Owners Association is planning its 7th annual Fourth of July Parade according to Chairman Len Wedic. This year's parade will also mark the Illinois Sesquicentennial Year.

All residents in Cherry Hill, Knollwood and Cherry Hill Estates are invited to participate as well as invited entrants.

It is the Association's desire to make this parade a memorable one and would like to have as many families as possible take part.

Chairman Len Wedic stated "we can show our friends that the Cherry Hill area represents an important force in America and focus attention on the need for re-dedicating ourselves to the American principles -- that we use this parade as a means of also re-dedicating our youth to pride and understanding of the American heritage and of stimulating adults to reaffirming and perpetuating their belief in the American way of life."

Office Hours At Frankfort Grade School

The main office of the Frankfort Grade School system, 157 Oregon St., will remain open during the summer months. Hours will be from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 4 p.m. All families new to the district who will be enrolling children for the first time this fall are requested by school officials to pre-register them in the summer months.

To reach the scene Mokena firemen had to drive about seven miles to the access road to I-80 west of New Lenox and then drive about five miles back east. To extricate the body firemen cut off the top of the car, cut away a door and then cut pieces of wreckage that were jammed on top of the driver.

It was after 2 a.m. before the body could be brought out of the wreckage. It was taken to the Baskerville Chapel, New Lenox. The youth's parents were on a trip to Minnesota.

The truck rammed by Harper was loaded with steel and his car was wedged so firmly beneath the large vehicle that a tow truck was unable to move it. Police halted another steel laden truck and after hooking a chain on the wrecked car had that driver back up and drag the wreck out.

Mrs. Lottie Nicolai, 74, late of 14550 West Ave., Orland Park, died Tuesday, June 11, at St. Francis Hospital, Blue Island, following a lingering illness.

Mrs. Nicolai was born June 26, 1894 in Palos Twp., and had lived in the area all her life.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ruth (Michael) Chipappetti, with whom she made her home; one brother, Henry Kittle, also of the area, and six grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband Charles.

four sites.

The site in DuPage and Lisle townships was called the least feasible among the three land sites. Its development cost was listed from $400,000,000 to $433,000,000, due mostly to land acquisition in the moderately populated area.

Estimated development cost for the other two land sites ranged from $188,000,000 to $236,700,000.

After submission of the study, Mayor Daley has recommended additional research projects that would require about a year to complete.

These include flights tests by the Federal Aviation Administration for the lake site and the land locations near Frankfort and Lockport, and compilation of weather and environmental data at the lake site.

The report also noted favorably the accessibility of high-speed expressways adjacent or near the three recommended land locations.

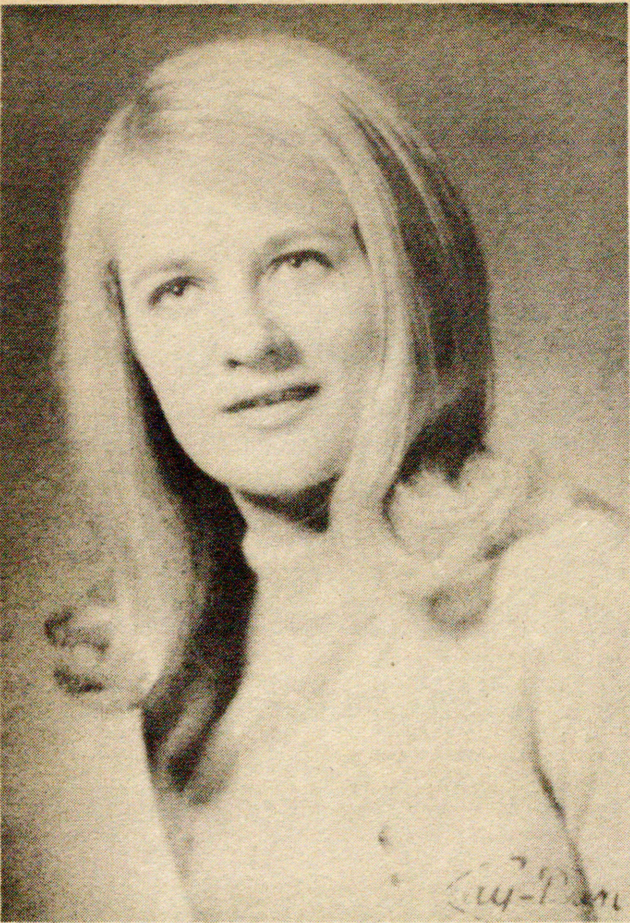

Target date for completion of the third airport is in the late 1970s.

Asks Early Registration At Sandburg

New students in District 230 who have not registered for the coming year at Carl Sandburg High School are urged to do so immediately by Dr. G. W. Davidson, principal.

Registration is desired now, he explained, in order to insure all subject requests. Also any family residing in the district who plans to move out of it before September, is asked to notify the school as soon as possible.

With the over-crowding of the school, Dr. Davidson said, it will help if students are registered early.

ASCC Sets Deadlines

Final date to request a loan on eligible 1967 crops of corn, soybeans and grain sorghums, is June 30, it was announced by the Will County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

July 31, the committee added, is the final date to inform the committee's office at 1256 W. Jefferson St., Joliet, that one desires to (1) deliver for purchase by CCC, eligible 1967 corn, soybean and grain sorghum crops; (2) resale on the farm 1967 corn or soybeans not presently under loan and/or (3) participate in the extended warehouse (resale) program.

This notice, it was emphasized, must be in writing.

Observance of these deadline dates, participation in the resale programs, or delivery of eligible commodities to CCC, would mean more dollars in the pockets of those who comply, it was said.

Mrs. Lauffer was a former school teacher and was treasurer of the Homer School District for about 40 years. She was also a member of Marley Community Church and quite active in its affairs. She served as Sunday School superintendent, church treasurer, and president of the Missionary Society for many years.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Irene Boland and Mrs. Ivy Martin, both of Lockport. Besides her husband, Mrs. Lauffer was also preceded in death by her parents, Gus and Angie Reiter Sontag, two brothers, Howard and Julius, and a sister, Helen Sontag.

The services were conducted from the Goodale Chapel on Hamilton St., Lockport, with the Rev. John Burger officiating. Interment was in Hadley Cemetery, in Homer.

Orland Post Office To Get Face Lifting Job

Modernization of the post office at 9614 West 143rd Street, Orland Park, was further advanced today with the announcement by Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson that a contract has been awarded to the Orland Park Building Corporation, 9612 West 143rd Street, Orland Park, to remodel and lease the present building to the Post Office Department.

"This project is in accordance with our policy of building new post offices only where they are urgently needed," Mr. Watson said. "We are constantly reassessing our construction program to determine whether present buildings can be altered or remodeled to take care of our expanding mail volume.

"We now have about 45,000 postal locations throughout the country handling an anticipated volume of 82½ billion pieces of mail for the 1967-1968 fiscal year. By 1970 it is expected to rise to 90 billion.

"Our employees are doing a great job of processing the mail. But it is clear that if we are to meet the demands of our growing population we must make use of the best mechanized equipment available in areas where it is economically justified.

"We are also constantly seeking to develop new ideas and new postal techniques, such as ZIP Code, to help process the mail more efficiently and economically."

The successful bidder will remodel the building and lease it to the Department for ten (10) years.

The one story building will be air conditioned, and will consist of 4,700 square feet of interior space, with 1,900 square feet exclusively for parking and movement of postal vehicles, and joint use of 21,760 square feet of shopping center parking area.

Beware of Billing Consultants

Michael J. Howlett, state Auditor of Public Accounts, today, warned vendors doing business with the state of Illinois, to beware of "billing consultants" who offer, for a percentage fee, to expedite payment of state vouchers.

"Nobody who sells goods or services to the state needs to pay anybody a consultant fee to speed up payment," said Howlett. "Vouchers received in my office are paid in the order of their arrival and as expeditiously as possible."

"Vouchers which come to my office properly approved are processed within two to five days, depending on the work load. Engagement of a billing consultant will not influence the movement of any voucher ahead of another."

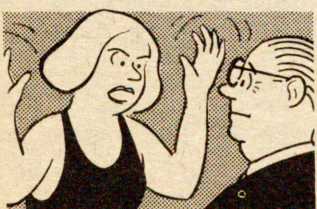

Lists Speed No. 1 Killer On Highways

Excessive speed continues to reign supreme as the number one killer on America's highways. Exceeding the speed limit, according to the annual highway accident booklet released by The Travelers Insurance Companies, accounted for nearly 40 percent of the 52,200 highway fatalities in 1967. Statistics in the booklet were compiled from reports by state motor vehicle departments.

The vice monarch, reckless driving, was responsible for approximately 15 percent of the deaths.

Other major factors involving actions of drivers resulting in deaths and injuries include not having the right-of-way, driving off the roadway and driving on the wrong side of the road. Almost one third of the drivers involved in fatal accidents were under 25 years of age.

More than 9,500 pedestrians marched themselves to the grave in 1967. The

Linda Emmett Is Wed To Wesley Bisgrove

The Frankfort United Methodist Church was the setting for the Saturday, May 4, 7:00 p.m. wedding of Miss Linda Emmett and Wesley G. Bisgrove.

The Rev. Charles Kepler officiated at the double ring ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore G. Emmett, R.R. 1, Frankfort, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bisgrove, 11047 St. Mary's Rd., Mokena.

White gladiolias decorated the altar as the bride approached on the arm of her father for the candle-light ceremony. The bride wore a white floor length nylon gown trimmed in chantilly lace. It featured scattered sequins at the neckline, and the train fell in tiers, each trimmed with a bow. A crystal crown held her three tiered veil. She carried a cascade of white gladiolias. The bride also wore a white gold watch, a gift of the groom.

Acting as matron of honor was Sharon Nepermann, the brides sister. She was attired in a yellow lace A-line, sleeveless floor length dress with white opera length gloves and a yellow headpiece with matching bow and veil. She carried a cascade of white carnations and yellow tea roses.

Flower girls, Kathleen and Sherry Edlund, nieces of the bride, wore yellow floor length dresses with matching flowered hats.

The ring bearer, Christine Emmett, also a niece of the bride, wore dress and hat identical to the flower girls.

Serving the groom as best man was his brother, Leslie Bisgrove, with ushers Gary Emmett, brides brother, and Walter Diment, grooms cousin.

For her daughters wedding, the bride's mother chose a pink linen sheath with three quarter length lace over-coat and pink hat with white accessories.

For her sons wedding, the groom's mother chose an apricot colored lace over tafetta dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore a corsage of white baby tea roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bisgrove

A reception followed the ceremony in the church parlors. Refreshments were served by the Women's organization of the church.

After a weeks honeymoon to Starved Rock Lodge, the couple now reside at the Imperial Trailer Court, Joliet, Ill.

The bride is an employee of C. F. Braun & Co., Romeoville, and the groom is employed at J. Merle Jones in Joliet, Ill.

Orland Hills Assoc. Sponsors Art Fair

The third annual art and crafts fair, sponsored by the Orland Park Hills Homeowners Assn., will be open to the public from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., on the school grounds at 143rd and Southwest Highway in Orland Park.

Sunday, June 23, fifty-eight artists will display their work at Orland's third annual art fair. Joining the local and Chicago area artists this year are artists from Milwaukee and Wauwatosa, Wisc. and Kalamazoo, Mich.

The popular ballot box voting by the public will determine the awards for 1st thru 3rd prize ribbons given to the winning artist. An anonymous donor will purchase one or more pieces of art work at the exhibit for display in the Orland Park schools, and as a gift to the schools. A panel of three to five judges from the Orland-Palos area will select the item or items for the donor's school gift.

A variety of art work will be exhibited for sale this year by artists and art instructors. Seed paintings by award winning artists will be exhibiting their work, (it will be their first year at Orland's art fair). Sidewalk portrait artists will work in charcoal, pastels and oils. Exhibitors will display oil, watercolor and acrylic paintings and scratchboard paintings, wood and metal sculptures. A "working artist" may display his craft of "direct metal sculpture" if an electrical outlet is available. Don't miss the unusual display of talent at your 3rd annual Orland Park art fair this Sunday, June 23.

Your art fair comm. for the past three years has been Barbara Fox, Evelyn DeRoss and Beverly Anderson. If you have any suggestions for next year's arts and crafts exhibit, please let us know. Thank you!

Methodists Wind Up Rock River Conference

In the closing moments of the 129th and last session of the Rock River Conference last Thursday one of the actions of the June 12 session was rescinded.

The Black Clergy had pled for the inclusion of more Negroes on the operating boards of the Chicago Conference on Religion and Race and the Interreligious Council on Urban Affairs . . . and had brought in a resolution to the effect that if the two groups did not accede to the request by Sept. 30, 1968 Conference membership on them would be terminated.

Thursday the Conference delegates voted to delete any reference to the Chicago Conference on Religion and Race. It then asked that the Interreligious Council on Urban Affairs change its structure to include denominations that are exclusively black by June 8, 1969 or the Conference withdraw its support.

Voted down a resolution signed by the Rev. James M. Reed and the Renewal Caucus to have a committee study the present expense of administrative headquarters, number and expenses of district superintendents and conference staff. Then passed a resolution for a professional management firm to study the conference's administrative costs and headquarters location.

Voted to urge that available funds in boards and agencies be placed in Chicago Negro - administered banks to aid the economic revival of the ghetto area.

Voted to approve the union of an E.U.B. church and a Methodist church both in Davis, Ill. and in the Logan Square area of Chicago into one congregation.

Voted to approve purchase of the Woodbine E.U.B. Church (near Freeport) and to develop it into an interdenominational Lay Academy for western Illinois congregations. A similar project was earlier approved for the north side of Chicago.

Voted a minimum salary of $6,500, plus parsonage, for clergymen.

Voted to reaffirm its position on non-discriminatory employment in institutions of the church.

Voted to study housing for superintendents and staff in the light of open occupancy.

Urged that both Chicago and Rockford Boards of Education develop programs to secure black principals and black administrators in black communities.

Urged that one of its commissions investigate absentee political representatives on Chicago's West Side.

Increased 1969 funding for community organizations from $30,000 to $75,000. It also agreed to set up the "Community Organization Builders" whose membership would raise money for the program.

Voted to continue its support for "Operation Breadbasket" and the "Delta Ministry."

Endorsed the "Negotiation Now!" campaign and the "Turn Toward Peace" and support of draft counseling centers.

Voted to support federal legislation banning interstate mail order sales of rifles, handguns, and ammunition; effective licensing of manufacturers, importers, and dealers; and an effective gun registration policy.

Voted to have the first regular session of the new Northern Illinois Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church at Northern Illinois University on June 8-12, 1969.

Voted to send the seven district superintendents and five poor people to the Poor Peoples Rally in Washington next week.

After much debate the Conference accepted a long and amended statement condemning Vietnam policies of the U.S. government.

Voted to support conscientious objectors, which position is "rooted in the historic Methodist tradition as expressed in the Discipline and in our Conference pronouncements."

Open Letter from the HIRSCHS'

Dear friends,

The final parting that death brings is often almost unbearable. The remorse of the living in recalling acts of kindness undone, or loving words unspoken, often gives added grief to the bereavement.

Wise and fortunate is the person who carries cherished memories of kind words and deeds which serve to sustain and comfort during the difficult adjustment following bereavement.

Respectfully,

Vocational Education Is Called Prime Need

Vocational education for area high school students is and will continue to be one of the principal if not prime needs, according to two South Suburban educators in testimony June 6 before an Illinois School Problems subcommittee hearing on the needs of urban school districts.

In a jointly developed position paper, John M. Flynn, superintendent of Bremen High School District 228 and president of the Educational Development Cooperative (EDC) of South Cook and North Will counties, and Wayne C. Shiffer, assistant director for curriculum, EDC, told committee members:

"Essentially, vocational education provides high school youth with the opportunity to prepare, secure, and advance in the world of work. It cannot solve all social ills but it could move the students toward resolving their own problems. It can assist in keeping youth in school and out of penal institutions; off street corners; out of riots and civil disturbances; and perhaps, in the long run, out of bread lines and public aid offices around the state."

The subcommittee (Urban Problems Commission) under the leadership of Senator Esther Saperstein, held the hearing dealing exclusively with urban-suburban communities in the Chicago Board of Education offices.

Express purpose of the hearing was to gather suggestions as to specific needs, methods of meeting such needs, and new ideas as to the role the state can play in meeting these needs.

Testimony taken from the invited hearing participants is to be given special attention in the development of a report from the commission to the General Assembly for appropriate action.

According to the testimony developed by Flynn and Shiffer, Illinois in 1963 made expenditures totaling $2,869,000 for vocational education while local school districts more than doubled this amount in matching effort. By way of comparison, in 1966 local districts matched the state's effort or dollars by a ratio of four to one.

The 75th General Assembly appropriated slightly more than $5,900,000 in matching state funds against federal allocation of more than $11 million and local districts were required to match slightly more than $23 million.

These funds, the report noted, were used to serve about 181,000 students and distributed to more than 500 secondary schools within the state. Also pointed out was the fact that vocational education served three times as many girls as boys in operating high school programs.

"These statistics hold proportionately true for youth attending suburban schools which border Chicago, especially in South Cook county," Flynn told the subcommittee.

Testimony further noted that a study currently being conducted by EDC among the 14 high school districts in the South Cook suburban area yields the following information:

--Of the number of students completing high school in this region, less than half enter a college or university.

--Approximately 20 percent continue their education in a trade school, business school or other training enterprise.

--Of those going to college or university, 51 percent are male and 49 percent female.

--Asked what kind of program they studied in high school, only four percent stated vocational education, 20 percent studied office occupations, 22 percent pursued general education, and 54 percent followed a college preparatory program.

Taking into consideration the factors that suburban boards of education are faced with the never-ceasing and ever-increasing population impact created through student mobility, the increase in enrollment at the rate of approximately 16 percent per year, the tax revenue lag on dwelling construction limiting the financial base and reducing the educational rate in proportion to the student population, the report set forth the following recommendations for legislative priority:

1. Supply youth, both in and out of school, with appropriate academic and vocational services due them as citizens entering the work-world.

2. Provide incentives for business and industry to support vocational education and assist in working out cooperative relations for regional human development.

3. Establish through the Division of Vocational Education and Rehabilitation, minimum foundation programs with a flat grant per student allocation to assist with high cost programs.

4. Amplify, rather than proliferate, the creation and extensive development of the area vocational centers, and assist with adequate and proportionate reimbursement.

5. Match, equally, the state effort with the federal investment, permitting local matching to be reduced in proportion to total funding to provide relief to districts instituting new programs and centers.

6. Establish area or regional resident schools, directed specifically toward the disadvantaged in vocational - technical education.

7. Draft legislation to permit city and suburban districts to operate and maintain programs, facilities and services outside the provincial boundaries.

8. Institute permissive legislation to enable complementary public agencies to operate programs in multiple school districts jointly.

9. Provide enabling legislation for the construction of area vocational facilities from State Building Commission sources for regions having inadequate bonding power.

10. Provide for monthly reimbursement procedures for all programs and projects to reduce the necessity of issuing tax anticipation warrants locally.

Orland Schools Will Aid Student Teachers

The Orland Park board of education, at its last regular meeting, approved a recommendation from Supt. Norbert Jerling that will allow the district to participate with the University of Illinois (Chicago Circle) and Illinois State University (Bloomington - Normal) in the training of student teachers during the 1968-69 school year.

Under the proposed programs, seniors at the universities will gain first-hand teaching experience while under the supervision of a member of the professional staff. The student teaching assignments range in length from three to nine weeks and have been scheduled in the primary, junior high school and special education fields.

Supt. Jerling likened the student teaching program to the internship program required of prospective physicians. He pointed out that, while student teaching programs are not new, this will be the first time the Orland schools have participated in such a venture. Other communities, such as LaGrange and Park Forest, have been hosting student teachers for several years. A review of the districts' participation in the student teacher program has been tentatively scheduled for early 1969 and, if judged successful, may well be continued in future years. The next regular meeting of the board has been set for July 10, at 8:00 p.m.

The First Nighters held their final meeting before the summer break at the home of Mrs. Jill Ray on Beechnut Drive last Thursday evening, June 13. It was postponed one week, because of many date conflicts of the members for the previous week.

The winner of the hostesses prize was Mrs. Lana Mortensen and the first meeting of the group in the fall will be held at the home of Mrs. Joan Cumbee on Birch Ave. She will have the honor of being "caretaker" of the equipment for the summer. The meeting will be held on the first Thursday in September.

The ladies went together to obtain a farewell gift for Mrs. Liz Horne, one of the members who is moving from the area. This is the last time she will be able to attend. Good luck in your new home, Liz!

Swim Teachers Stress Water Basics

How well a youngster learns to swim is but one measure of a parent's success as a teacher, according to Charles Beseman, Red Cross volunteer water safety chairman. The most important measure is whether the parent and child possess positive attitudes towards swimming -- and being safe in, on and around the water.

You'll want to develop within your youngster the DESIRE to be safe while in the water. Adults can do this by pointing out that the youngster will enjoy himself more (and you'll feel more at ease), if he will learn and practice safe rules of the water.

A child's first introduction to water can be at home or in the shallow part of a pool, pond or beach. If at home, fill a wash basin, or other shallow dish with water and have the youngster put his face in the water a number of times. Gradually build up the time until he can hold his face under water for a period of 15-20 seconds.

Be sure, of course, to tell him to take a deep breath (through the mouth), before putting his face in the water. When the beginner can keep his face underwater for a 15-20 second period, have him blow bubbles through his mouth while under. Beseman suggested that the parent demonstrate himself, by imitating the sound of a motorboat. Take a breath, go under, exhale slowly and come up before expelling all of it. Once the youngster has mastered this technique he's ready for the pool or lake.

Beseman suggested taking the beginner into shallow water and walking with him until the water reaches about three feet deep.

Once he's accustomed to the water, he can start "bobbing". Ask him to duck under, blow bubbles slowly all the while he's under and come up. Then have him repeat the sequence, establishing a definite rhythm. The inhalation phase should be about two seconds and the exhalation about three seconds. Keep him working on this until he is able to do it 15 or 20 times without stopping.
